About the College:

Porbandar District, located along the scenic Arabian Sea in the southwestern part of Gujarat, is globally renowned as the birthplace of Mahatma Gandhi, the Father of the Nation, who introduced the world to the principles of non-violence. The city is also known in India as “Sudamapuri.” India, being an agrarian country, places high importance on agricultural technology to enhance crop production and productivity, which in turn boosts farmers' incomes. To support this objective, institutions that train skilled researchers, educators, and extension workers are vital. In line with this vision, the ASPEE College of Agriculture, Khapat (Porbandar) was established in the academic year 2016–17 as a constituent college of Junagadh Agricultural University. The college began with an intake of 30 students and has since expanded its capacity to 64 students, playing a key role in advancing agricultural education and development in the region.

Mission / Goal:

The primary goal of the ASPEE College of Agriculture, Khapat (Porbandar) is to emerge as a centre of excellence in agricultural education, committed to delivering high-quality teaching, innovative research, and impactful extension services. The college strives to equip students with the knowledge, skills, and values needed to address the challenges of modern agriculture and to serve the farming community across the nation.

Objectives:

The ASPEE College of Agriculture, Khapat (Porbandar) is guided by the following key objectives to fulfill its mission of advancing agricultural education, research, and outreach:

- To offer quality education at undergraduate level in agricultural science.
- To align academic programs with ICAR guidelines for curriculum, credits, and evaluation systems.
- To upgrade laboratories and libraries with modern resources for enhanced practical learning.
- To equip students with skills, knowledge and values for employability and career growth in the agricultural sector.
